They left with $5,300 in cash, according to the Douglas County attorney's office, after handing a note to teller, Mrs. Linda James, which read: "This is a robbery. Give us the money or we'll shoot to kill."

Two Killed In Belfast O The New Hork Eimes

Belfast — Sniper fire killed an 18-month-old girl and a young army sentry Friday following a wave of explosions in Belfast that left the city terrified.

The army said that sniper bullets, aimed at a British patrol, struck the child, Angela Gallagher, who was playing near her grandmother's home in the Broadway area, a bleak Roman Catholic quarter near downtown Belfast. The army believes that the sniper bullet ricocheted off a wall and struck the child. Another ricocheting bullet passed through the dress of the child's seven-year-old sister, who played nearby. Others, both young and old, at the Fairgrounds were less enthused about the concert, which continued until after 6:30

Unemployment Hits 6.1% During August

... NEAR RECORD HIGH

Washington (UPI) -Unemployment jumped to 6.1% of the labor force in August, the government reported Friday. prompting new charges by Democrats and union leaders that President Nixon was handing windfall profits to big business without helping create more jobs.

Even though the jobless figures were gathered during the week just before Nixon's mid-month economic crackdown, the report gave impetus to demands in Congress for broader tax relief for consumers when legislators return from a summer recess on Tuesday.

Layoffs in the steel industry pushed unemployement among adult men from 43% to 4.5%, They and teen-aged boys were hardest hit as the jobless rate rose from 5.8% in July to a point just short of the nine-year high of 6.2% reached again last May and December.

With an additional 260,000 persons on the job in August, total employment hit at an alltime record of 79,197,000 workers, adjusted for seasonal factors. But workers off the job rose by 230,000 at the same time to a total of 5.1 million unemployed.

The president, returning from a long visit to San Clemente. Calif., planned a low-key Labor Day appeal for union cooperation with his economic measures in a radio broadcast at noon EDT Monday from his weekend retreat at Cam David, Md.

Sen. Villian Proxmire, D-Wis., chairman of the John Congressional Economic Committee, termed the unemployand called on Congress to overhaul Nixon's tax proposals on a "selective and rational basis" to increase tax breaks for ordinary taxpayers.

AFL-CIO President George

Meany said the figures showed that "widespread suffering among American workers continues unabated." On top of a reported boost in wholesale prices, the report indicates that Nixen's original economic plan was a "disaster," Meany said, "and nothing we've seen yet persuades us that his new game plan will do any better."

Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien called the jobless increase "striking evidence of the need for Congress to reject Mr. Nixon's tax bonanza for corporations, substituting greater tax relief for the individual as a stimulus to consumer spending."

Testifying before Proxmire's committee, Geoffrey Moore, commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, acknowledged there had been a "statistically significant rise" in unemployment last month that offset a rise in total employment. Under particular criticism was Nixon's plan to reinstate the 10% tax credit for corporate investment in new machinery and equipment. Nixon called it a "job development credit," arguing that the resulting business expansion would create more jobs.

But labor leaders say the plan might actually have the opposite effect of permitting installation of new labor-saving equipment that would throw more people out of work and produce even greater cost savings for business.

Meany, in a Labor Day statement, said the country "needs tax revenue to improve and expand public services, not tax breaks to increase the profits of business . . a program that will create jobs, not a program to make the wealthy wealthier."

Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson's Labor Day message conceded that American vorkers "still face problems of .unemployment and unsafe working conditions" but that is with Nixon's new policies "we are can confront these problems and these challenges with a new & spirit of confidence.

Proxmire said he favored postponing Social Security tax increases scheduled for Jan. 1 and a "more modest" investment tax credit. "This windfall on top of the already presidentially announced depreciation guidelines would give corpora-: tions a record 20% tax cut in one year," he said.

Robert Nathan, a private Washington economic consultant who served in the Roosevelt and Truman administrations, told Proxmire's committee that measures after the 90-day wageprice freeze should stress price controls more than wages to guard against profiteering at the expense of labor.

The United States has consulted 90 countries since President Nixon announced that he planned to visit Peking, Rogers said. Most of them support a policy of permitting both Chinese governments to have membership in the United Nations, he said, adding "we are encouraged."

The Mainland Chinese have said they would not enter the U.N. if the rival government on, Taiwan retains a seat. The Nationalist Chinese have taken a similar position in the past, but has indicated recently that it might retain its seat regardless of what happens.

This would put the burden on the Mainland Chinese of deciding either to enter the U.N. or to remain outside.

Rogers emphasized that the United States, in attempting to improve relations with Mainland China, intended to live up to all its commitments.

Berlin Pact May Ease Tension In Divided City

By HUBERT J. ERB Associated Press Writer

Berlin (A) - Divided Berlin entered a new era in its postwar history Friday with the signing of a Berlin agreement intended to end the period of confrontation and bring some tranquility to Central Europe.

The accord, reached and signed by the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France, was the first formal agreement concluded on Communist-surrounded Berlin since the four nations' victorious armies carved up the prostrate German Reich at the close of World War II.

It held out promise of reduced East-West tension and an improved life for inhabitants of the divided city, which has been the scene of several major power crisis and of countless personal and family troubles.

The pact, while not doing away with the 10-year-old Communist-built Wall splitting East Berlin from West Berlin cutlines procedures for allowing West Berliners to move more freely to the outside world and into East Berlin to conduct business and visit relatives and

Bob Berrier Says:

About the middle of August, I spent four days in Marysville, Ohio - the grass capital of the world, the home of SCOTTS. Scotts have some beautiful WINDSOR lawns, but I like to think that our Windsor lawns out here are just as beautiful. Stop and see them. Take your shoes off and walk on the grass that feels like velvet, but wears like iron

Scotts top flite turf Specialists told me that a Fall feeding of Turf Builder will do more for a lawn than at any other time of the year. All of us here at WILLIAMS NURSERIES know this to be true. Many Lincoln lawn owners have experienced similar results with Fall Turf Builder application. Do you know that you can still buy a 15,000 sq. ft. bag for only $13.95?

TURF BUILDER is the prolonged release tertilizer. Its nutrients are locked in and are released only as the grass can use them. So there's no spindly surge growth to cause extra mowing, and no wasteful loss of nutrients due to leaching. Instead, your lawn grows thicker, greener and sturdier. Stays that way longer,

If you want extra greening power for your lawn this year Then your bag is Scotts SUPER TURF BUILDER.

It contains even more greening power than regular Turt Builder. And like Scotts regular Turf Builder, it will not harm the grass, or grass seed, in any weather SUPER TURF BUILDER is clean, odor-less, a pleasure to use. Just the thing for the lawn that needs that "something extra."

About the middle of August, I spent four days in Marysville, Ohio - the grass capital of the world, the home of SCOTTS. Scotts have some beautiful WINDSOR lawns, but I like to think that our Windsor lawns out here are just as beautiful. Stop and see them. Take your shoes off and walk on the grass that feels like velvet, but wears like iron.

Scotts top flite turf Specialists told me that a Fall feeding of Turf Builder will do more for a lawn than at any other time of the year. All of us here at WILLIAMS NURSERIES know this to be true. Many Lincoln lawn owners have experienced similar results with Fall Turf Builder application. Do you know that you can still buy a 15,000 sq. ft. bag for only $13.95?

TURF BUILDER is the prolonged release fertilizer. Its nutrients are locked in and are released only as the grass can use them. So there's no spindly surge growth to cause extra mowing, and no wasteful loss of nutrients due to leaching. Instead, your lawn grows thicker, greener and sturdier. Stays that way longer,

If you want extra greening power for your lawn this year Then your bag is Scotts SUPER TURF BUILDER.

It contains even more greening power than regular Turf Builder. And like Scotts regular Turf Builder, it will not harm the grass, or grass seed, in any weather. ### IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The four-power signing of a new Berlin accord has been hailed as an encouraging sign in world affairs, and it is. It would be dangerous, however, to assume from this that we have achieved much by way of permanent peace among

The Berlin deal, settling the jurisdictional and transportation issues that have long been a point of conflict there, has many repercussions in its own right. While calming the waters of Europe, the agreement further sets Berlin apart from both East and West Germany.

In the long-run, it seems questionable that such an artificial arrangement can work. It will work for awhile, of course, simply because it is such an improvement over conditions as they had existed, but the future is anybody's guess.

The peculiar divisions of the world of the past have not worked too well in either Europe or the Middle East. Areas can be split up by law but it is another to keep them that way in light of the common ethnic bonds that exist among them.

Settlement of Berlin presumably gives the Soviet Union a little time to breathe, to gather itself together for a greater effort in its conflict with Red China and in the welding together of its Eastern European bloc of nations. On the other hand, the agreement should encourage the Soviet bloc nations to look for a little greater autonomy and that is always a problem for communism.

The agreement tends to relax tensions in Europe which means that the U.S. presence there might be looked at in a new light. Our commitment in terms of troops, for instance, has a greater chance of being cut some in light of the Berlin accord and its However, this might also drive Western Europe more toward an accommodation with the Soviet Union, something West Germany has already been doing. It is highly doubtful that the Berlin package is substantive enough to validate much of any real coming together of all of Europe.

Beyond the matter of Berlin, that settlement does nothing in a host of other areas. The arms race, for instance, continues unabated, despite the talks that are going on between the U.S. and the Soviet Union.

Some U.S. officials, in fact, believe that the Russians are using the disarmament talks as a delaying tactic - to slow down U.S. arms production while they go full steam ahead. At the moment, there is no question that this nation has sufficient nuclear striking force to discouage any attack.

But the highly regarded International Institute for Strategic Studies in London has reported that the Soviet Union is acquiring a considerable lead over the U.S. in some areas. It now has, it is reported, 45 per cent more land-based intercontinental nuclear missiles than the U.S.

Russian troop strength has climbed to 3.3 million men while the U.S. has reduced forces to a total of 2.7 million. The U.S. is engaged in a refinement of its nuclear force which will greatly increase its capacity but still may not be up to the level of Russia.

Quite naturally, one wonders why in the world nations continue to build up their nuclear supplies when they already have enough to blow each other off the face of the earth. We can't answer that but we do know that the arms race is a threat to peace, for whatever reasons it might be going

How is it possible for any nation to believe in the peaceful intentions of the other when all are pointing nuclear destruction at each other? How can you think that a man with a gun pointed at your head has anything but violent intentions?

Berlin is but a drop in the bucket compared to the arms race and its many repercussions. The arms thing alone tells us that the Berlin agreement is far from any really significant milestone in world afairs.

The agreement is certainly welcome as evidence that the big powers of the world can get along if they try but it is a long way from any guarantee that they are trying in a broad and meaningful way. The world has a long way to go before it can sit back and relax with any real sense

Cold-War Chess Replacing Diplomacy Of Ping-Pong?

nard Shaw called chess "a Soviet monopoly since 1948, foolish expedient for making doing something very clever, when they are only wasting their time." That may still be the majority opinion. But there are those like French artist Marcel Duchamp who see that sublimal attraction of the royal game. "In chess," he says, "there are some extremely beautiful things in the domain of movement, but not in the visual domain. It's the imagining of the movement or of the gesture that makes the beauty . . . It's completely in one's gray mat-

Even Duchamp concedes that the milieu of chess players is a bit rarified. "These people are completely cloudy, completely blind, wearing blinkers madmen of a certain quality, the way the artist is supposed to be, and isn't, in general." He might have had Bobby Fischer of Brooklyn, N.Y., in mind.

Fischer at age 28 no longer can qualify as the enfant terrible of big-time chess. After 14 years in competition, his temper is under tighter control, although his life style remains appropriately bizarre. Fischer lives out of a succession of hotel rooms; goes to bed at 5 a.m., and gets up at 3 p.m.; complains unduly about noise; dines at the Automat on watermelon and tomato juice; dresses in a style that has been described as "late Goodwill"; and thinks about little but

In a typical demonstration, Fischer on Aug. 9 demolished 11 grandmasters and masters in a rapid-fire tournament at the Manhattan Chess Club where Fischer started playing at age 10. One of his victims commented: You know you're going to lose. Even when I was ahead, I had a feeling."

The upcoming match with Tigran Petrosian of the Soviet Union is seen as a crucial test of Fischer's stamina and pa-

In his typical aggressive style, Fischer already has created a controversy by charging that the Russians "have no sen's e of sportsmanship," and that they find ways to take advice from their seconds or arrange the schedule against their opponents. Fischer's explanation for the comparative unpopularity of chess in America is hardly flattering. "People don't want to concentrate. It's too painful." To devotees like Fischer, chess may be a science and sport but it's no mere game.

News Leaks Uncovered

Publication of the Pentagon Papers was viewed favorably by a majority of Americans, who, for lack of a better reason, are anxious to find fault with those who perpetuated a war the people have grown tired of.

If the leak of those classified Vietnam war documents wasn't regarded as a breach of security by a majority of the public, it certainly was by the Nixon administration, which is now investigating other leaks of "sensitive information" which it also considers to be potentially dangerous to the national security.

The State Department Thursday confirmed that the Justice Department has been investigating State Department officials because of the alleged leaks, but would neither confirm nor deny reports that FBI agents were administering lie detector tests in an attempt to uncover officials who may have cooperated with journalists in disclosing in-

A great weakness in the President's program is the 10 per cent tax investment credit for business. Yet, there never has been a prosecution, much less a conviction. The reason is not really that the national political parties cleverly get around the limitations by setting up multifarious committees, supposedly independent, which then receive and expend $3 million each, and to each of which any fat cat may throw $5,000 with impunity.

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The four-power signing of a new Berlin accord has been hailed as an encouraging sign in world affairs, and it is. It would be dangerous, however, to assume from this that we have achieved much by way of permanent peace among

The Berlin deal, settling the jurisdictional and transportation issues that have long been a point of conflict there, has many repercussions in its own right. While calming the waters of Europe, the agreement further sets Berlin apart from both East and West Germany.

In the long-run, it seems questionable that such an artificial arrangement can work. It will work for awhile, of course, simply because it is such an improvement over conditions as they had existed, but the future is anybody's guess.

The peculiar divisions of the world of the past have not worked too well in either Europe or the Middle East. Areas can be split up by law but it is another to keep them that way in light of the common ethnic bonds that exist among them.

Settlement of Berlin presumably gives the Soviet Union a little time to breathe, to gather itself together for a greater effort in its conflict with Red China and in the welding together of its Eastern European bloc of nations. On the other hand, the agreement should encourage the Soviet bloc nations to look for a little greater autonomy and that is always a problem

The agreement tends to relax tensions in Europe which means that the U.S. presence there might be looked at in a new light. Our commitment in terms of troops, for instance, has a greater chance of being cut some in light of the Berlin accord and its resulting good will.

However, this might also drive Western Europe more toward an accommodation with the Soviet Union, something West Germany has already been doing. It is highly doubtful that the Berlin package is substantive enough to validate much of any real coming together of all of Europe.

Beyond the matter of Berlin, that settlement does nothing in a host of other areas. The arms race, for instance, continues unabated, despite the talks that are going on between the U.S. and the Soviet Union.

Some U.S. officials, in fact, believe that the Russians are using the disarmament talks as a delaying tactic - to slow down U.S. arms production while they go full steam ahead. At the moment, there is no question that this nation has sufficient nuclear striking force to discouage any attack.

But the highly regarded International Institute for Strategic Studies in London has reported that the Soviet Union is acquiring a considerable lead over the U.S. in some areas. It now has, it is reported, 45 per cent more land-based intercontinental nuclear missiles than the U.S.

Russian troop strength has climbed to 3.3 million men while the U.S. has reduced forces to a total of 2.7 million. The U.S. is engaged in a refinement of its nuclear force which will greatly increase its capacity but still may not be up to the level of Russia.

Quite naturally, one wonders why in the world nations continue to build up their nuclear supplies when they already have enough to blow each other off the face of the earth. We can't answer that but we do know that the arms race is a threat to peace, for whatever reasons it might be going

How is it possible for any nation to believe in the peaceful intentions of the other when all are pointing nuclear destruction at each other? How can you think that a man with a gun pointed at your head has anything but violent intentions?

Berlin is but a drop in the bucket compared to the arms race and its many repercussions. The arms thing alone tells us that the Berlin agreement is far from any really significant milestone in world afairs.

The agreement is certainly welcome as evidence that the big powers of the world can get along if they try but it is a long way from any guarantee that they are trying in a broad and meaningful way. The world has a long way to go before it can sit back and relax with any real sense of security.

Fischer at age 28 no longer can qualify as the enfant terrible of big-time chess. ### Leaders Out Of Step

A poll conducted for the American Business Committee on National Priorities and printed in Congressional Quarterly shows that most of the top leadership in the House of Representatives did not agree with the views of their constituents on at least three major issues before Congress so far this year.

One can only speculate as to whether the rigors of leadership keep a congressmen out of touch with his district. But the results of the poll make interesting reading,

House leaders whose votes were used in the study were Speaker Carl Albert, Majority Leader Hale Boggs, Asst. Majority Leader Thomas P. O'Neill, Minority Leader Gerald Ford, Leslie Arends, assistant minority leader and ranking minority member of the Armed Services Committee F. Edward Hebert, Armed Services Committee Chairman George H. Mahon, Appropriations Committee Chairman Frank T. Bow ranking minority member of Appropriations, Wilbur Mills, Ways and Means Committee chairman, and John W. Byrnes, ranking minority member of Ways and Means. A voter sampling was taken from each congressman's district to round out the

In response to the third question, majorities in each district favored an end to spending on the supersonic transport. O'Neill and Byrnes voted with the House majority in favor of cutting out funds for the SST, but the other eight House leaders voted against the amendment.

Most of the House leadership, then, were at of step with the opinions of voters in their districts on those three issues. Apparently few people were bothered, however; the survey also found that 80 per cent of the persons questioned did not know or could not recall how their members voted.

Which might prove that an uninformed or uncaring electorate can give a congressman a lot of latitude.

News Leaks Uncovered

Publication of the Pentagon Papers was viewed favorably by a majority of Americans, who, for lack of a better reason, are anxious to find fault with those who perpetuated a war the people have grown tired of.

If the leak of those classified Vietnam war documents wasn't regarded as a breach of security by a majority of the public, it certainly was by the Nixon administration, which is now investigating other leaks of "sensitive information" which it also considers to be potentially dangerous to the national security.

The State Department Thursday confirmed that the Justice Department has been investigating State Department officials because of the alleged leaks, but would neither confirm nor deny reports that FBI agents were administering lie detector tests in an attempt to uncover officials who may have cooperated with journalists in disclosing in-

The investigation was reportedly prompted by stories disclosing details of the strategic arms limitation negotiations as well as the publication of the Pentagon Papers.

Question: -- "I'm so upset I can hardly talk. Our family has never had any scandal, but my granddaughter, 16, has just announced she's pregnant by a hippie type she met at the roller rink. She doesn't want to marry the man but says she intends to have the baby and raise it herself. My son and his spineless wife don't seem upset and say it's up to the girl what she wants to do. I'm at my wits end. What should I do?"

Answer: - Find yourself something else to worry about. It's understandable that you're concerned, but you're not going to change attitudes or abort the baby by getting into an emotional stew. I'm oldfashioned, too, and frown on unwed mothers and babies without papas. But there's no law against these infractions and the younger generation seems too determined to find out for themselves whether our traditional standards of marriage and morals are worthy of emulating.

build the foundation, carpenters to erect the house, and plumbers and electricians. It was frustrating and took nearly a year. But as we look back it was a very satisfying experience and we figure the house cost us about $7,000 less than if we'd let a contractor build it for us. Just thought you'd like to know."

Answer: - Thanks. Not everyone who serves as his own contractor comes out ahead. You need plenty of time to supervise the project, more than a smattering of information about home-building techniques, and a moderately tough attitude to prevent workmen from taking advantage of you. But if you score on these points, you stand a good chance of coming out ahead building your own

Answer: - No. Honoring one's parents doesn't mean permitting them to disrupt our lives. If it's within your means, rent a room or small apartment for your mother and give her a monthly stipend. Then help her find activities of her own so her orbit of interests won't be confined to your household. Perhaps she could share an apartment with another widow. MISS PATRICIA PEAK

Of special interest to University of Nebraska campus circles this morning is the announcement made by Col. and Mrs. William O. Peak, III, of Grand Island, of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Patricia Allyn, to Stephen M. Klintberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Klintberg of Laurel.

Saturday, Dec. 18, has been chosen as the date of the wedding.

Miss Peak was graduated last June from the University of Nebraska from where she received a degree in philosophy, and where she is a member of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority.

Mr. Klintberg is a senior at the University of Nebraska where he is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. He also serves as the head drum major for the University of Nebraska marching band.

If one were to use the thermometer readings from the past several days as an indicator, it would appear that Lincoln was basking (or baking) in the sunny warmth of a typical July heat wave. Fortunately, however, we have calendars to assure us that this is indeed September; and that cool, brisk autumn weather is just around the corner - at least we're keeping our fingers crossed!

There are other indications, of course, that summer is over, and right at the moment we can't think of a better example than the fact that the Nebraska State Fair is currently in progress. Substantive evidence in support of the latter statement is provided in the form of visitors — from near and far — who are in town to take in the annual

The welcome mat in many suburban homes has been dusted off in anticipation of the arrival of guests, and among those Lincoln residents who will be filling the roles of host and hostess are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Witt of Fiene Heights.

Arriving in Lincoln today will be Mr. and Mrs. Witt's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Tad Dunham and sons, David and Ted, who make their home in Ralston. Highlighting the Dunhams' stay will be a trip to the fair.

Incidentally, we should also mention the fact that a bit of celebrating is in store for the visitors; and the incentive for the fun is David Dunham, who will join the ranks of five-year-olds on Tuesday, Sept. 5. We're sure that such an important occasion will be appropriately observed during the Dunhams' visit.

The Rosemont neighborhood recently had the rather unpleasant task of saying "goodbye" to five residents who have moved away from the city. Leaving their home at 2001 No. 76th St., were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hutchins and children, Tommy, Amy and Beth Ann; and we understand that their destination is Northern Ireland where they will be residing for the next three years. It seems that Mr. Hutchins, who is a Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co employe, was transferred to a new assignment in a city located just 20 miles from Belfast.

Prior to their departure, the Hutchins family were the guests of honor at a very

We hear that the family's neighborhood friends literally "took to the streets" — appropriately blocked off for the occasion, of course — on that particular evening, — and enjoyed several hours of socializing and indulged in delicacies - such as shamrock-decorated cake and homemade ice cream.

ON THE MOVE-Al Sweeney helps wife into a bright pace car that is being used at the Nebraska State Fair races which began Friday. Mrs. Sweeney is used to traveling in pace cars with her husband who is president of National Speedways Inc. A former teacher, the pert brunette enjoys driving on the highways, but is reluctant to take on a race track.

THEY LEAD A FAST LIFE

Driving one million miles in 35 years with a husband sounds like a lot to ask of even the most loyal and loving wife, but Mrs. Al Sweeney says she's enjoyed every minute of it." "I even helped drive every other 100 miles," she said. Mrs Sweeney is the wife of Al Sweeney, president of National Speedways Inc., who travels from Florida to Minnesota and back every year organizing International Motor Contest Assn. sanctioned races.

As a team Mr. and Mrs. Sweeney made their first appearance in Lincoln at the State Fairgrounds in 1946. Since then, they have sold a share of the corporation to two Lincolnites, Gene Van Winkle and Woody Brinkman, both of whom have been in the employment of the National Speedways corporation since the organization's firs tappearance here.

Van Winkle was formerly a racing car owner while Brinkman participated as a midget and stock car driver. Both have their wives actively involved in the speed sport

The Sweeneys met at a six-day bicycle race and have been on the racing circuit of some kind ever since. Following their marriage, the couple lived in Chicago where Mrs. Sweeney was a school teacher.

A teacher for 25 years, Mrs. Sweeney recalls the first years of their marriage, which were during the depression years, as very lean. "After receiving one check for teaching, for the next three years all Chicago teachers received were 'script' which were good in a limited number of stores." According to Mrs. Sweeney, formal strikes as are held today weren't organized then because teachers were considered "professionals" and above labor strikes.

After three years, Mrs. Sweeney went to work with other teachers to organize what is now the Chicago teacher's union. Through the work of Mrs. Sweeney and others, the schools received federal aid which enabled them to pay the teachers regularly

During her 25 year teaching tenure, Mrs. Sweeney followed her husband on weekends and summers. However, eight years ago when she retired from teaching she began to travel with him regularly. And, according to Mr.

Sweency. She acts as official scorer and timekeeper and although she had never seen an automobile race before meeting her husband, she now thoroughly enjoys the racing

"I was forced into scoring one evening when the scorer got sick and have been doing it over since," she says. "I really enjoy it now, but at first I was scared I would make an error."

Mrs. Sweeney has never driven a race car on the track, but her husband calls her a "real speedster." "One night she was driving a new Avanti and was stopped by a trooper for going 102 m.p.h" Mrs. Sweeney quickly countered with, "It was only 93

The Sweeneys do a great deal of their traveling by car during the four month racing season This year they will attend some 85 races in fourteen states. One one occasion they drove 800 miles from Minnesota to Illinois to face races only 19 hours apart.

Although they travel a great deal by car, the Sweeneys enjoy traveling by train, plane, and boat and have toured a great deal of this country, the Caribbean and Europe. "We enjoy meeting people and seeing other racing events," said Mrs. Sweeney.

In spite of the fact that Mrs. Sweeney is an inveterate traveler, she also loves to cook and entertain for dozens of people in their Tampa, Fla., home. Her specialty is quail in wine sauce which she fixes in quantities up to 125 at a time. Her husband calls her a "real gourmet" and says no one can match her preparation of corn beef and cab-

The Sweeneys eat out a lot, due to their traveling and sometimes travel an extra 50 miles to go to a restaurant they especially enjoy. "Most places never serve vegetables," says Mrs. Sweeney. "They think all a person wants is steak and potatoes?

Her culinary triumph is an annual press dinner held in December. "I work for nearly three weeks preparing for the dinner," she said. She does all the food preparation herself including steak, Swedish meatballs, and other delicacies - such as her quail.

When asked about encouraging other women to travel with their husbands, Mrs. Sweeney said, "By all means. A wife can ease many of the tensions her husband has to face while traveling and can very often help them solve some of their daily problems."

In answer to a question concerning her technique for managing to work so well with her husband and the other men in the racing business, Mrs. Sweeney said, "It's easy -I just use the same technique I used in handling school children."

We are a bit sad today. You see, the Children's Zoo will be closing for this season on Monday at 6 o'clock, and that means the end of our visits with our nice friends for the whole winter.

We thought you might like to know where we will be during the winter months, just m case you would like to drop us a card — or something.

the contract cannot be defeated regardless of what West plays next. Assume he shifts to a trump. In that case you draw trumps and take a spade finesse. It loses, but nothing can stop you from taking ten tricks. If West continues with a diamond at trick two, you make the contract by taking the ace and plying the queen of spades from dummy Again you have ten tricks no matter how the defense then goes. East presumably wins with the king but cannot prevent you from discarding a loser on one of dummy's high spades. It is true that the contract can also be made by winning the king of diamonds with the ace and playing the queen of spades at trick two. However, this method of play will not be as successful in the long run as ducking the opening lead, chiefly because of the danger that the spades may not be divided 4-3.

The point is that while you can count ten tricks from the start - seven hearts, two spades and a diamond --- you must be careful that one of them does not get away by your losing control of the hand at trick one. To stay firmly in the driver's seat and be ready to ward off any kind of attack that might be mounted, you must momentarily allow West to stay in command.

THEY LEAD A FAST LIFE

Driving one million miles in 35 years with a husband sounds like a lot to ask of even the most loyal and loving wife, but Mrs. Al Sweeney says she's enjoyed every minute of it." "I even helped drive every other 100 miles," she said. Mrs. Sweeney is the wife of Al Sweeney, president of National Speedways Inc., who travels from Florida to Minnesota and back every year organizing International Motor Contest Assn. sanctioned races.

As a team Mr. and Mrs. Sweeney made their first appearance in Lincoln at the State Fairgrounds in 1946. Since then, they have sold a share of the corporation to two Lincolnites, Gene Van Winkle and Woody Brinkman, both of whom have been in the employment of the National Speedways corporation since the organization's firs tappearance here.

Van Winkle was formerly a racing car owner while Brinkman participated as a midget and stock car driver. Both have their wives actively involved in the speed sport combine.

The Sweeneys met at a six-day bicycle race and have been on the racing circuit of some kind ever since. Following their marriage, the couple lived in Chicago where Mrs. Sweeney was a school teacher.

A teacher for 25 years, Mrs. Sweeney recalls the first years of their marriage, which were during the depression years, as very lean. "After receiving one check for teaching, for the next three years all Chicago teachers received were 'script' which were good in a limited number of stores." According to Mrs. Sweeney, formal strikes as are held today weren't organized then because teachers were considered "professionals" and above labor strikes.

After three years, Mrs. Sweeney went to work with other teachers to organize what is now the Chicago teacher's union. Through the work of Mrs. Sweeney and others, the schools received federal aid which enabled them to pay the teachers regularly.

During her 25 year teaching tenure, Mrs. Sweeney followed her husband on weekends and summers. However, eight years ago when she retired from teaching she began to travel with him regularly. And, according to Mr. Sweeney, she is now his "right hand."

"I couldn't do without her," said Mr. Sweeney. She acts as official scorer and timekeeper and although she had never seen an automobile race before meeting her husband, she now thoroughly enjoys the racing an error." Mrs. Sweeney has never driven a race car on the track, but her husband calls her a "real speedster." "One night she was driving a new Avanti and was stopped by a trooper for going 102 m.p.h." Mrs. Sweeney quickly countered with, "It was only 93

m.p.h. The Sweeneys do a great deal of their traveling by car during the four month racing season. This year they will attend some 85 races in fourteen states. One one occasion they drove 800 miles from Minnesota to Illinois to face races only 19 hours apart.

Although they travel a great deal by car, the Sweeneys enjoy traveling by train, plane, and boat and have toured a great deal of this country, the Caribbean and Europe. "We enjoy meeting people and seeing other racing events," said Mrs. Sweeney.

In spite of the fact that Mrs. Sweeney is an inveterate traveler, she also loves to cook and entertain for dozens of people in their Tampa, Fla., home. Her specialty is quail in wine sauce which she fixes in quantities up to 125 at a time. Her husband calls her a "real gourmet" and says no one can match her preparation of corn beef and cab-

The Sweeneys eat out a lot, due to their traveling and sometimes travel an extra 50 miles to go to a restaurant they especially enjoy. "Most places never serve vegetables," says Mrs. Sweeney. "They think all a person wants is steak and potatoes.

Her culinary triumph is an annual press dinner held in December. "I work for nearly three weeks preparing for the dinner," she said. She does all the food preparation herself including steak, Swedish meatballs, and other delicacies - such as her quail.

When asked about encouraging other women to travel with their husbands, Mrs. Sweeney said, "By all means. A wife can ease many of the tensions her husband has to face while traveling and can very often help them solve some of their daily pro-

In answer to a question concerning her technique for managing to work so well with her husband and the other men in the racing business, Mrs. Sweeney said, "It's easy just use the same technique I used in

conZOOsations

BY PHYLLIS WOOLLEN

We are a bit sad today. You see, the Children's Zoo will be closing for this season on Monday at 6 o'clock, and that means the end of our visits with our nice friends for the whole winter. We thought you might like to know where we will be during the winter months, just in case you would like to drop us a card

- or something. Well, as a matter of fact, some of the animals have already moved on to other quarters. For instance the mother pig and her hobbies were returned to the 4-H farm that lent them to the Zoo. The heifers also have been sent off to a farm where they will spend the winter.

The rest of us are still here at the Zoo, and this year most of us will stay here during the winter. In years past, they have lodged many of us either at Antelope Park Zoo or Pioneers Park.

The animals in the compound, for instance will still go to Pioneers Park. This includes Andy, the llama; the Sicilian donkeys, the Cameron goats and the mares.

Many of the birds from Flamingo Island and the walk-in birdcage will be housed at Antelope Park Zoo for the winter, but some of the birds, such as the parrots and the love birds will stay right here.

The coatimundis are getting some additions to their home, to make it livable for the winter. The Zoo people are installing heating and ventilation so that the coatimundi can live in their area year 'round.

The gibbons and squirrel monkeys will stay the compound barn during the winter months, and the Wallabys wil remain in their home which is heated.

There's other news around the Zoo. Our director, Bob Spencer, now has an assistant. He is Sam Wolff who has spent many summers here before. He has just completed his work for a master's degree in theology from the University of California at Berkeley. Sam will be working here full time now.

With best wishes for a happy fall and winter, we already are looking forward to seeing you next spring. Zoo long. ZOO SEEN presumably wins with the king but cannot prevent you from discarding a loser on one of dummy's high spades. It is true that the contract can also be made by winning the king of diamonds with the ace and playing the queen of spades at trick two. However, this method of play will not be as successful in the long run as ducking the opening lead, chiefly because of the danger that the spades may not be divided 4-3. The point is that while you can count ten tricks from the start - seven hearts, two spades and a diamond -- you must be careful that one of them does not get away by your losing control of the hand at trick one. To stay firmly in the driver's seat and be ready to ward off any kind of attack that might be mounted, you must momentarily allow West to stay in command.

Abby: he'll be equally nice to a wife

DEAR ABBY: I'm going with a 22-year-old fellow. Jeff is real nice, a clean liver and a considerate person. There's only one thing wrong with him. He has almost a babyish attachment to his mother. If he's going to be out after midnight he always calls her to let her know because he says she worries about him getting hurt in his car.

Jeff will never make a date with me unless he checks with his mother first to be sure she has something to do because she's a widow and he doesn't want her to be alone.

We can never make plans for Sunday afternoon because he reserves that time to take his mother to visit friends and relatives (She's an invalid). Jeff says he wants to marry me, but I am afraid I will always play second fiddle to is mother. I need our advice.

HAVING DOUBTS DEAR HAVING: Grab him. For a peek of how a man will treat his wife, take notice of the way he treats his mother.

Battle Creek Boys Top FFA Swine Show

By DOMINICK COSTELLO Farm Editor

The Battle Creek Chapter of the FFA brought home much of the bacon in the FFA swine show Friday. Bill Hughes, showed the grand champion over all and the champion light weight market hog and the champion medium market hog. Tim Volk also from Battle Creek showed the champion medium weight market hog.

Hughes came back to win the top medium weight market pen prize but was overshadowed by Mike Baack of Utica who collected the grand champion ribbon for the overall market pen competition.

The FFA swine classes showed market gilts and barrows against each other in a single class according to B. E. Gingery, state FFA advisor.

The judge finished the breeding classes and the showmanship class late Friday evening.

10-Year Budget For Navy Gets Pentagon Trim

Washington (A) - The Pentagon, spurred by budget cuts and rising costs, has begun trimming Adm. Elmo R. Zumwalt Jr.'s proposed $50 billion shopping list for new naval hardware the next 10

Since the chief of naval operations gave the estimate to the House Armed Services Committee last April, the Defense Department has ordered a cutback in construction of atomic-powered frigates costing $250 million each and postponed indefinitely a proposed fourth nuclear-powered aircraft carrier whose price tag has jumped from $640 million to $825 million.

Zumwalt's concept of a new submarine-launched, long-range missile system at an estimated cost of $12 billion has been clouded by U.S.-Soviet arms limitation talks, but he appears to have a good chance of gaining some new vessels including a craft that can skim the water surface at more than 100 knots and a missile-firing patrol

Some To Open Class
Some 4-H cattle from the dairy show will be entered in the open class show as the young showmen test their skill at showing livestock against the professional showman from several states.

A major activity of 4-H dairymen was the dairy judging contest in which the young dairymen placed several groups of dairy cattle and presented the reasons for placing them. The young dairymen will have their score cards graded by fair officials and a champion dairy judge will be selected on the basis of the cards.

The open class poultry show was dropped from the state fair this year however the 4-H poultry show had 40 entries, 26 of which were entered by Doug Wissink of Firth.

The young poultryman took home five purple ribbons covering a goose, a young gander, a cockerel, and wyoung ducks.

10-Year Budget For Navy Gets Pentagon Trim

Washington (A) - The Pentagon, spurred by budget cuts and rising costs, has begun trimming Adm. Elmo R. Zumwalt Jr.'s proposed $50 billion shopping list for new naval hardware the next 10 years.

Since the chief of naval operations gave the estimate to the House Armed Services Committee last April, the Defense Department has ordered a cutback in construction of atomic-powered frigates costing $250 million each and postponed indefinitely a proposed fourth nuclear-powered aircraft carrier whose price tag has jumped from $640 million to $825 million.

Zumwalt's concept of a new submarine-launched, long-range missile system at an estimated cost of $12 billion has been clouded by U.S.-Soviet arms limitation talks, but he appears to have a good chance of gaining some new vessels including a craft that can skim the water surface at more than 100 knots and a missile-firing patrol

Thunderbolts Pointing For Repeat Of Last Season As No.

Prep Sports Writer

Lincoln Pius X was the No. 1 Class B high school football team in the state last season and veteran coach Vince Aldrich, with 16 lettermen including the entire middle of the line and his starting quarterback returning, isn't likely to give up that distinction without a battle.

"The returning linemen are more mature this year," Aldrich says, "and thus are blocking well and have their assignments down pretty well for this stage. This is making things a bit easier for the

Though the Thunderbolts lost a lot of speed through the graduation of Lynn Finney, who was voted the most outstanding defensive player in the recent Shrine Bowl game, and halfback Paul Nevels. Aldrich is pleased with his overall team quickness.

"Both Finney and Nevels were ten-second sprinters." Aldrich reminds, "and not many clubs have two of those. We might not have as much straightaway speed, but agility and quickness is there, and that can be just as impor-

The pre-season drills on the offensive phase of the game have especially pleased Aldrich. "My main concern is to find enough additional players to go on defense," he says. "But as of now quite a few or the boys will have to go both ways. I hope we can remedy that as the season goes along. It's telling on a player in the fourth quarter, when he gets tired, and the effectiveness of the team drops."

on the 14th hole. He wedged to four feet there, Forest Hills, N.Y. (P) - Arthur Ashe, Jr., slammed into the third round with a straight-s e t victory over a young Baltimore collegian Friday and chided his fellow contract pros for skipping the U.S. Open Tennis Championship. The former Davis Cup ace from Richmond, Va., crushed 19year-old Steve Krulevitz, a student at the University of Utah, 6-2, 6-1, 6-1 and kept alive his hopes of winning the $20,000 top prize. "I thought some of the guys were short-sighted for dropping out," Ashe said, referring to Rod Laver, defending champion Ken Rosewall, Tony Roche and four other top pros.

"I even tried to persuade Laver to change his mind. But he wanted to go home. While it's to my advantage for Laver and the others not to be around, I felt it was their duty to play.

"This is the second most important tournament in the worldsecond only to Wimbledon. This is where you build your reputation."

Ashe, in a fresh look at the troubled tennis picture during a half-hour press conference, also said the game badly needed one man rule - a commissioner.

"A man like Pete Rozelle Commissioner of the National Football League would be great," he added. "Better still, I'd like to see Jack Dramer in the job. He's made and lost money. He's lived with it. He knows all the angles.'

Ashe, seeded No. 3, advanced along with two other men favorites - Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., No. 6, and Romanian Ilie Nastase, No. 8, plus four of the eight top-ranked ladies - Rosemary Casals of San Francisco, No. 2; Kerry Melville of Australia, No. 4; Judy Dalton of Australia, No. 6, and Julie Heldman of New York No. 8.

Officials Use Sandbags For Ball Change

New York (2) — National Football League officials are carrying a new piece of equipment this season, a sand bag three inches by six inches.

It is thrown to the ground on all changes of possession in NFL games this year to mark the spot where the ball changes hands on kickoffs, punts, fumble recoveries and interceptions.

The reason for employment of the sandbag to mark the spot is the new double foul rule that permits the team that gains possession with "clean hands" to keep the ball. The spot must be marked because should a double foul follow the change of possession, the ball will be put in play at the spot where the change of possession occurred.

Sand was found to be the best bag-stuffer after beans and buckshot also were con-

Officials Use Sandbags For Ball Change

New York (P) - National Football League officials are carrying a new piece of equipment this season, a sand bag three inches by six inches. It is thrown to the ground on all changes of possession in NFL games this year to mark the spot where the ball changes hands on kickoffs, punts, fumble recoveries and interceptions. The reason for employment of the sandbag to mark the spot is the new double foul rule that permits the team that gains possession with "clean hands" to keep the ball. The spot must be marked because should a double foul follow the change of possession, the ball will be put in play at the spot where the change of possession occurred. Sand was found to be the best bag-stuffer after beans and buckshot also were considered.

Beans have a tendency to expand when wet. Buckshot couldn't pass the new airlines boarding apparatus.

How to make Nature and Turf Builder work together for a better lawn!

Fall represents a unique opportunity for lawn owners. It's the one time of year when Nature puts all the odds in your favor — weather, temperature and the natural tendency of grass to develop new roots, rhizomes and side shoots (tillers). Best thing you can do to encourage this process is to fertilize now - with TURF BUILDER. It is the prolonged-release fertilizer that gives up its nutrients only as the grass needs them. So there's no spindly topgrowth to cause extra mowing. Instead, TURF BUILDER greatly multiplies the greening and thickening processes of grass. Makes your lawn grow greener, thicker and sturdier this fall and next spring too.

How to make Nature and Turf Builder work together for a better lawn!

Fall represents a unique opportunity for lawn owners. It's the one time of year when Nature puts all the odds in your favor - weather, temperature and the natural tendency of grass to develop new roots, rhizomes and side shoots (tillers). Best thing you can do to encourage this process is to fertilize now - with TURF BUILDER. It is the prolonged-release fertilizer that gives up its nutrients only as the grass needs them. So there's no spindly topgrowth to cause extra mowing. Instead, TURF BUILDER greatly multiplies the greening and thickening processes of grass. Makes your lawn grow greener, thicker and sturdier this fall and next spring too.

explanations: investor anticipation of a cut in the prime lending rates, hopes of encouraging remarks in President Nixon's Labor Day speech, and a simple absence of selling orders.

Earlier in the week the market had exhibited a lackluster pattern with the Dow industrial average gaining a mere 0.95 Wednesday and 1.61 Thursday.

Big Board volume rose to 14.04 million shares from 10.69 million shares Thursday. Daily turnover never had reached even the 12-million level in the four previous sessions this week.

Gains ran through almost all groups of stocks. Autos and glamour issues were among the big gainers.
